In Deer Lodge.

Deer Lodge, July 31.—A number of the fair sex of Deer Lodge's younger society folk resolved themselves into a party yesterday which spent the day in the mountain fastness near Rock Creek lake, where, just at this season of the year, Dame Nature furnishes a panorama of mountain scenery equal in beauty to the famous Swiss Alps.

The weather conditions for the outing were most propitious. The membership of the party was augmented at lunch time by the arrival of a party of young men from town who were in the city on business, and on a fishing excursion. Their fishing propensities, however, were not so strong as to prevent them from accepting an invitation to accompany the ladies on their sight-seeing and boating excursion during the afternoon.

The members of the party, including the piscatorialists, were: Mrs. R. B. Maxwell, Mrs. Weirick of Butte, Mrs. Alf. Whitworth, Mrs. H. A. McPherson, Mrs. Fred Gull-lott, Miss Alice Coleman, Miss Miller of Bozeman, Miss Eva Woolfolk, Miss Alma Biehnen, the Misses Nell and Virginia Atchison of Helena, Miss Elizabeth Hyde, Miss Lida McLain, Messrs. Will Scott, Joseph Mulcahy, Frank Whitworth, J. Colman, E. J. Dierks and Luther G. Beckwith of Butte, and W. B. Wiles.

Miss Elizabeth Hyde very handsomely entertained a number of friends at her perfectly appointed home on Mission avenue Thursday evening, the event being in the nature of a musicale in which some of our leading musicians participated and was given in honor of her guests, the Misses Nell and Virginia Atchison of Helena. During the course of the evening Miss Virginia Atchison favored the guests with several violin selections and won for herself much praise and favorable criticism from the assembled company.

The musical composition of several of the classical writers. The spacious rooms of the Hyde home were prettily illumined and decorated for the occasion, natural flowers adding to the luster and brilliancy of the high priced habitation. Dainty refreshments faultlessly served, performed their peculiar functions toward rounding out the evening's pleasures.

During the past week this community has suffered the presence of the Death angel who pressed its icy hand to the hearts of two of our best known families, and reaped a devastating harvest from homes where happiness and sunshine had reigned. First to feel the awful summons to death from the messenger of the Ruler above was the family of our esteemed townsman, Judge W. L. Powell, when, last Sunday, he fell from his horse, and, less than an hour later, the loving husband of his life who for 20 years had been an adviser and companion. Mrs. Powell died at 10:30 o'clock of heart failure after a illness of but a few moments.

The death of the husband of this life might be likened as the snuffing of a candle and her removal from our village will be mourned by the entire community who knew her but to those who are of God's mobile heart sympathy to the husband and children.

The death of Mrs. L. C. Hansen last Monday, marked the departure of another of the landmarks of this valley.

Mrs. Hansen and family came to Montana—Alder gulch—in 1862, and on to Deer Lodge valley in 1864, where she has since lived, having suffered the loss of her husband about nine years ago. A family of children, all grown, mourn her loss.

The many Montana friends of our former townsman, Hart Humber, whose departure from Trail, B. C., for the Klondike, was chronicled in the Standard's correspondence from that place some time since, will join his Deer Lodge friends in their well wishes as to his success in the Alaskan El Dorado, where he has safely landed after a perilous journey with his partner, Fred O'Brien, a former Anaconda boy. The gold seekers arrived at their destination on June 6, and secured a lease on a placer claim a few days subsequent to their arrival. Hart writes to relatives in this place that his share of the clean-up after two weeks run was about 400 ounces of the yellow metal, or $6,400.

Charles Curtis drove over from Avon Thursday. He was accompanied on his journey by Mrs. C. G. Birdseye, who spent a pleasant day with Mrs. James H. Mills and family.

Mrs. C. D. Joslyn and daughter, Miss Nina, were guests for several days this week in the Missoula home of E. L. Bonner and family.

Mrs. Peer Valiton was viewing metropolitan life in Butte last Monday.

Mrs. Joseph Spence and infant of Anaconda are spending a fortnight in Deer Lodge, visitors to the home of Mrs. L. S. Eldred.

J. P. Rains of Butte, accompanied by Miss Mabel McMin and Miss Clara Hoodley, two attractive young ladies of the Silver City, were guests of Mrs. Woodward in this place two days this week.

Among the out-of-town relatives present at the obsequies of the late Mrs. W. L. Powell last Wednesday we record the following: Mrs. Fowler of Victor, Mrs. Louis Crutchfield of Stevensville, Hon. John M. Evans of Missoula, Mrs. Adams of Helena, Mrs. H. Goodwin of Warm Springs and E. H. Powell and family of Great Falls.

Guy Churchill of Butte was a visitor to Deer Lodge friends the first of this week.

Rev. W. M. Jordan, Edward Scharn-low and wife, the Deer Lodge representatives to the Christian Endeavor convention, returned Wednesday from the scene of the big meeting. During the absence of the party made visits to various points of interest in California and Oregon.

Dr. Peter S. Muggiborg, superintendent in charge of the state insane asylum at Warm Springs, was a business visitor to Deer Lodge last Tuesday.

Miss Kate Hammond, historian of Butte, is spending a season in Deer Lodge, a guest in the home of Dr. J. H. Hill.

Miss Hammond's visit to this place is for the purpose of gathering data for her forthcoming history of Montana. Many of the deeds of heroism by pioneer residents in this valley are of historical mention and the first settlers of this valley will doubtless receive due mention by the gifted writer.

Misses Nell and Virginia Atchison of Helena, successful and accomplished young ladies as ever graced a commonwealth, are guests for a month of their cousin, Miss Elizabeth Hyde, at her home on East Second street.

E. J. Dierks and Luther G. Beckwith, attorneys of Butte, prominent in both legal and social circles, are spending a week in Deer Lodge in restful quietude, away from things which savor of the bench and bar.

Mrs. A. D. Peck is a guest from Anaconda for a week in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Chapman.

Mrs. James H. Mills and family have returned from a six weeks' absence spent in White Sulphur Springs, whence Mrs. Mills had gone in search of relief through the medium of the sulphur baths from an aggravating attack of rheumatism.

Many friends will regret to learn that the relief sought was not attained and she has returned to her home and has placed herself in the care of a practicing M. D. with the hope of cure or betterment.

Mrs. W. H. Gallian of St. Louis is a guest in Deer Lodge for two months, a visitor to the home of her sister, Mrs. H. S. Harris.

Billings, July 31.—An affair which was very much enjoyed by those who attended it was the reception on Thursday afternoon by Mrs. P. E. Moss for her guests, Mrs. Moss, and her daughter, Mrs. Anderson, of Missoula, and Mrs. McBride of San Jose, Cal.

The rooms were charmingly decorated with an abundance of flowers. Cards were indulged in for the early part of the afternoon, hearts being the game played. When the scores were counted up Mrs. Chapple was found to have won the greatest number of games.

Delicious refreshments were served, after which Mrs. J. W. Johnston related with great taste several well-chosen selections. Those who were present were: Mesdames Anderson, Paul McCormick, Mrs. P. E. Moss, Mrs. McBride, Child, Donovan, Garvin, Goss, Goddard, Greene, Johnston, Moss, McBride, Matheson, McCormick, Railback, Rixon, Rowley, Toole, Woodson and Williams and Miss Bevens.

The party was very much enjoyed by Mrs. Paul McCormick on Monday afternoon in honor of Mrs. Matthew Murphy of St. Paul, and the guests of Mrs. P. E. Moss, Mrs. Anderson, Mrs. McBride of San Jose, Cal.

The pavilion by the wagon bridge across the river was the scene of the happy occasion, and a prettier or more picturesque spot could hardly be found in the country surrounding.

Every arrangement had been made for the comfort of the guests. Abundant and delicious refreshments had been prepared and were thoroughly enjoyed. The afternoon was very much enjoyed by the children who were present played a prominent part, and when the evening shadows began to creep across the land and the start for home was made, it was by unanimous vote that so charming an evening was not to be wasted, and so took a drive through the valley before going home.

Those present were: Mrs. Moss, Mr. and Mrs. Anderson, Mrs. McBride, Mrs. Murphy, Mrs. L. H. Parker, Mrs. Swisher, Mrs. Matheson, Mrs. J. J. McCormick, Mrs. P. E. Moss, Mrs. Donovan, Misses Cora May and Louise McCormick, J. C. Murphy, Jr., and Wilbur McCormick. There were also a number of children.
